Since April 2016 it has been the law to ensure all dogs are microchipped by the time they are 8 weeks old and registered on a DEFRA compliant database such as Microchip Central. Failure to do this can result in fines of up to £500 per dog. Dogs must be microchipped and registered to the breeder before they are sold. It is the keeper's legal responsibility to ensure their dog's microchip is registered and their details kept up to date.

Please tick the following boxes, sign and date this form. All boxes with a (*) must be ticked.

- Yes, I consent to a Microchip Central account being created*
- Yes, I consent to Microchip Central sharing my contact details for the purpose of reuniting my pet should its microchip be searched. (If you do not wish to share your details, there is a £25 fee for us to handle the reunification process.)
- I agree to Microchip Central's terms and conditions (<https://www.microchipcentral.com/terms-and-conditions/>). You will need internet access to read these*
- Yes, I understand a mobile number must be provided in order to activate my account and set a password. An activation link can only be sent via email or text. If I do not provide either, my account will be inactive (I will not be able to access it myself) and I will incur fees listed in section 15 of the Terms and Conditions such as a £10 fee to update details should they change. I also have 28 days from when the account is created to activate it FREE.*
